FARMVILLE.

We, the people of Farmville in common, with all the people of Southside Virginia, should rejoice together in the fact that our "lines have fallen unto us in pleasant places" and that ours is a goodly heritage." Blizzards to the right of us, cyclones to the left, snow on the mountains, hurricanes on the sea coast, while with us there has been calm and sweet content. There ought not to be a vacant home or uncultivated acre in all this section of Virginia. Printers' ink liberally and judiciously used, will fill our waste places with earnest workers.

Mr. P. H. C. Rice is the most persistent, consistent and insistent Democrat in all Virginia. In the darkest days of reconstruction he never lost hope and never did admit that the world, the flesh and the G. O. P. could doubt Democracy Such loyalty should long since have met with rich reward. Reward or no reward he will be in the fere front of the next engagement. Our people, as a general thing, however, are taking no part in politics at this time.

Our post office plum is being pulled at and a good, rich, ripe one it is

I am not prophet enough to name the "longest pole." The cry for wood in town is general and distressing. Even small loads entering our gates are at once set upon by the anxious many. The wonder is that some one does'nt open a wood yard and keep a full supply on hand. I trust that the day is not far in the future when electricity will not only light our homes but heat them as well.

Saturday was another red letter day in the business circles of our town. Our country friends were out in full force and were buying and selling 'right and left." What would the world do without the country? And what would the country do without the town?

"Those whom God hath joined together let not man put asunder." One of the marvels of the present day to me is that wheat should be low and wheat bran "out of sight." Never before was it true that a part was greater than the whole.

Prof. Russell and family who return to Farmville to make their home with us, will receive a warm welcome to our social and religious circles.

Our meat market is admirably well supplied now a days. The ready cash in hand and one's table in Farmville need not be without the luxuries of land and sea.

We are to have music by the band again and all of us are glad.

The inspectors of our warehouses have eyes and ears wide open in these frosty days. The rattle of a country wheel on the pavement excites genuine interest among them and competition is sharp and strong

Oysters are 'fat and fine.' Run down Mr. Editor, and "jine" us in a plate.

The dispensary makes money rain or shine, and the empty bottle man is still on top.

Our fox hunters are ready for the sport and our owners of quick steppers are enjoying holding the reins on these glorious October afternoons Automobiles are tame in contrast.

Wedding bells have been ringing out clear and strong, while some of the most popular members of our social circles have marched to the altar. Miss Robbie Blair Berkely is now Mrs. Bennett, of Washington. Miss May Paulett is now Mrs. Dr. Giles, and will continue to brighten Farmville's social life by her presence, while Mr. Bugg, the courteous and efficient assistant cashier of the First National bank, will bring to us his fair bride from the land of fruits and flowers. Misses Paulett and Berkely have been devoted friends for years, and it is rather a coincidence that they should be married within a week of each other.

The entire Normal machinery is in full fly. Cog responded to cog and wheel to wheel in perfect harmony. This institution is Virginia's best gift to Virginia girlhood and womanhood. A mother's pride, a daughter's privilege. Nor is it all work and no play with them as each week is marked by some attractive and helpful diversion. The question again forces itself upon me, "what did Farmville ever do without the Normal? Our Methodist friends who are nothin ' if not pioneers in in all good works, were the first of our churches to entertain the students of that faith who attend the Normal.

The tobacco season will soon open and that means happy times with our Commission merchants. Pay day once a year means a "long time between drinks," but it is mighty good pay when it does come.

Judge Watkins is lawyer and commonwealth's Attorney, but is at home in a meeting of farmers and generally their chief speaker.

Clerk Whitehead keeps a model office, scrupulously clean and orderly in all its details. No man was ever more faithful in the discharge of a public duty. Like Cleveland he looks upon "public office as a public trust."

Mr. Kayton, our new Street Commissioner, is busy on our streets and side walks.

Mayor Blanton looks more and more like a "squire" of the olden day as the years go by.

Our armory where soldiers are trained is an appropriate place in which to hold religous services. Soldiers of the cross must have on the armor as well as soldiers of the country.

That "air line" is still in the air. A warm welcome awaits it if it sees light.

What about that Buckingham school trust, of which an aggrieved citizen of the good old county complained? Farmville's one trust is the liquor trust, and yet at that counter "poor trust is done dead."

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty cent and $1. size.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

THE DYING GIRL.

Am I dying, mother dying, lay your hand
Upon my brow,
It is hot with fever mother, yes I must be dying now.
Lift the curtain up still higher, let me look upon the sky,
When I gaze upon its glories, it does not seem so hard to die.
Oh, my mother you will miss me, when I think upon your woe
When I look upon your sorrow then it does seem hard to go.
I have thought of happy hours, we have spent within our home,
We did not dream of parting, but how quickly it did come.
Do not sob so mother mother, for I would not have them bear
The message sent the absent, to the one my heart holds dear.
How often we have wandered underneath the linden tree
And there in the sunset glowing, he would breathe his love for me.
O'er that tree the sunbet glistened, how it brightened all the air,
Oh how many happy moments, have we spent in gladness there,
Then we parted as fly mother, he spoke of meeting soon again,
But my heart beat loudly, wildly, for I knew he dreamed in vain.
What a blow it will be mother, to his young and hopeful heart,
When he comes a gladly greet me, thinking we no more shall part.
He will find no loved one waiting, but a lonely grave instead
And I know he will bend lowly o'er the sod above my head,
And the little ring he gave me do not from my finger move,
For I'd have it to the angels as an emblem of his love.
Tell him that I longed to see him, that I murmured his name,
Tell him that my mother was going quickly, yet in death I loved the same.
Tell my father, "God bless him," in his last declining years
May he go on the journey with you, through this gloomy vale of tears.
Tell him—but I cannot send him—a last message of my love
But will wait to gladly greet him, in a brighter world above.
Kiss each dear one for me mother, bid them good bye as of yore,
Bid them be to you a solace, when my heart shall beat no more.
Lift the curtain once more for me, I would gaze within your eye,
Look upon your well loved features, once again before I die.
Do not weep my darling mother, I'm going to a land of rest,
For the Heavenly One who takes me knows it is all for the best.
Angels gather 'round my bedside, see they beckon me away,
Now 'tis night with me no longer, but a bright and glorious day.
I am going, going mother, music strains my soul doth swell
I am borne to Heavenly portals, while I breathe a last "farewell."
Once again the curtain lifted and the sunlight coming in
Beamed upon a lovely image, whose angel soul was free from sin.
Her hands were softly folded 'mid flowers so sweet and fair
Fitting emblem of the loved one, gently slumbering there.
Then a lonely grave we made her, underneath the linden tree,
Where often she had wandered with a heart so kind and free,
E'en there we seemed to love her, over her grave they bloom so fair,
And the little birds above her, sing their sweetest music there.

Buckingham.

Vene, vidi, vici, Governor Swanson came, he saw and he conquered indeed without using this old time latin I can say he captivated his audience with the first few sentences of his speech, his arraignment of the G. O. P. was delivered with great force, a few times, especially in his laudation of Congressman Flood and his official acts, he grew eloquent, he compared the rate of taxation by the State and by the Federal government and said while there was no levy, nor any direct tax by the general government, yet we pay a tax on most everything we consume, which in the aggregate amounts to nearly $10 on the (100) one hundred dollars. He assured his hearers that while he was Governor he intended that all that could be done should be done to the betterment of the public schools, said he learned he knew up to the time he borrowed money to go to college, in the public schools, that he had taught one, and that he was heartily in sympathy with the movement for better schools and better school houses. The Governor said he was at the University with Mr. Flood, that he had known him at the age before men grow selfish and that he (Flood) was industrious, generous, splendid, that the tenth district might well be proud of its representative and predicted that Mr. Flood would some day be governor of Virginia. Ample provision had been made to furnish dinner for the crowd, which in numbers was not near so great as would have been the case if the time of speaking and the barbecue had been generally known. The mails had been delayed by high water and many did not come because they knew nothing of it, while the threatening state of the weather kept many away. Messrs. Flood and Hubard both made short addresses which were well received.

The pension which came to Mr. Wm. Childress for this year as a Confederate veteran, is being expended by his children in placing a wire fence around the family burying ground.

Mr. C. H. Jones and Dr. Caldwell have been visiting the farms where cattle had been quarantined to see that the orders of the government are being carried out. Mr. Jones visited the old Picklin farm near New Canton and he reports the loss of corn to be immense in that locality, where the shocks were not washed away they were covered by water.

I hear to-day that there was a glut on the Farmville market for tobacco and prices ruled low for the week.

Old hams are selling for 18c, salt pork 12 1 2c, dressed turkeys 18c and a poor man can hardly afford a smell of these good things and as for corn bread, why it will be out of sight, in fact a great deal of it was out of sight last week.

I saw a local newspaper a few days ago that was devoid of local interest, in fact it had its patent sides on every side. Not one item of local news could I find.

Mrs. C. G. Clay has gone on a visit to her old home in Charlotte county.

Mr. Keen Langhorne went on a trip to Lynchburg last week.

Miss Nannie M. Moseley will go on a visit to Washington soon.

It is next to impossible to get a message over the phone lines taken up and sent by a telegraph operator The competition commission should see to it that a phone is kept in each office of the Rv. companies and that operators should heed the calls made on them.

Mr. J. B. Gilliam was in the village several days last week.

Messrs. W. R. Silvey and J. T. Oliver will have charge of the tobacco storage for the A. S. E. at Dillwyn.

Mr. R. C. Nickolas, of Charlottesville and Mr. Bailey of the Scottsville Courier, were here to hear the Governor's speech.

There was a Sunday School picnic at Dillwyn Saturday.

The front of the forebay washed out at Slate River Mills during the rainy spell.

Governor Swanson says the furniture in some of the fine houses in New York would sell for as much as all the real estate in Buckingham.

The price on hides "done drap" why not the prices on shoes "drap" too?

A tobacco barn near Gold Hill in which the tobacco had been stripped and was hanging up, was burned last week.

Mr. Wm. Childress, a son of the veteran by that name, has moved back to the county and has his children at school here.

A Mr. Kellog, of Illinois, has purchased the old Daily place and has come to the county, bringing his personal property, which includes nine head of horses with him.

Dr. H. O. Forbes will be married and bring his bride to visit his mother and sisters this week and then make their home at Jetersville, Amelia county.

Afflicted with Sore Eyes for 33 Years.

I have been afflicted with sore eyes for thirty-three years. Thirteen years ago I became totally blind and was blind for six years. My eyes were badly inflamed. One of my neighbors insisted on my trying Chamberlain's Salve and gave me half a box of it. To my surprise it healed my eyes and my sight came back to me. P. C. Earls, Cynthiana, Ky.

Pocahontas as Monument.

Mr. Editor: As vice chairman of the committee for Baltimore, Md., of "Pocahontas Memorial Association" I am authorized to present the cause and take names for membership.

The birth of the American native the first permanent settlement of English speaking people on the Western Hemisphere, will be celebrated in 1907. It is though eminently fitting that some memorial should be erected at this time to Pocahontas, the Indian Princess to whom the settlement owed its preservation from fatame, and from the attacks of the savage foe.

Therefore a national Association has been formed with headquarters at Washington, D. C., for this purpose for none wish to be guilty of that ingratitude which Capt. Smith says, "is the deadly poison to all honest virtues." Will you enroll yourself as one of the noble number what Jamestown means in the history of our country, and appreciate what Pocahontas did for the country in saving that settlement from death, famine, and utter confusion? Are you not willing, even at some personal sacrafice to aid with work, money and influence in piecing this tribute to her memory. The memorial is to be in form a statue of Pocahontas, to cost $10,000 and to be erected on Jamestown Island. If anyone who joins the Association, and does not like their particulars please communicate with, Mrs. Thos. S. Bocock Vice chairman of Pocahontas Memorial Association for Baltimore Maryland.

How to Cure a Cold.

The question of how to cure a cold without unnecessary loss of time is one in which we are all more or less interested, for in this day a cold is gotten rid of in less time, danger of pneumonia and other dangerous diseases lessened. Mr. B. W. Hall, of Waverly, Va., has used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for years and says: I firmly believe it to be absolutely the best preparation on the market for colds and have recommended it to my friends and they all agree with me.
